

Revised Edition: 1.2

Housetraining Your Dog - A Definitive Guide

Written & Compiled By Ruff Sitwell

FREE REPORT

Published By Dog Training Institute

Unauthorized distribution, resale, or copying of this material is unlawful.
No portion of this book may be copied or resold without written permission.

Copyright © 2007 Dog Training Institute. All Rights Reserved.

Table of Contents

Welcome to Dog Ownership!	3
Basic Housetraining Methods	4
Crate Training	4
Paper Training	4
Litter Box Training	5
Puppy & Adult Dog Schedules	5
Schedule for Puppies	5
Schedule for Adult Dogs	5
Behavioral Problems	5
Submissive Urination	5
Excitement Urination	6
Marking	6
Separation Anxiety	6
Health Related Problems	6
Congenital Problems	6
Diseases & Medical Problems	6
Medication Related Problems	7
Old-Age Problems	7
Dog Group Specific Issues	7
Scent Hounds	7
Sight Hounds	7
Pointers & Setters	8
Retrievers	8
Late Maturers	8
Toy Breeds	8
What You Need To Do To Fully Potty Train Your Dog!	9
Housetraining Your Dog – A Definitive Guide	10

Welcome to Dog Ownership!

Every dog needs to be housetrained. No dog can be fully social until he learns where he should be eliminating and where he should not! Housetraining can be fun and easy for you and your dog, provided, correct training methods are being used.

With the help of this Free Report, you will soon see some dramatic improvements in your Dog's potty behavior. You will find loads of interesting methods. They are all easy and simple and you might be surprised at how well it works.

Here's what this Free Report is not about:

1. Yelling At your Dog
2. Hitting or Kicking your Dog
3. Punishing your Dog in any way
4. Rubbing its nose on the poop

And here's what this Free Report is about:

1. Making your Dog actually want to eliminate where he should!
2. Showing your Dog that Potty training sessions are not to be dreaded!
3. Using the natural instincts all Dogs have, to quickly and easily get him potty trained and fully housebroken.

The reason this Free Report is so effective is because it is based on the one most important thing that your Dog craves ... "Your Attention".

Right now, your Dog's potty training problems are a result of his confusion... he is still not clear about where to pee or potty. For example, have you ever caught your Dog 'on the act'? You most likely rushed to him and said in a firm tone something like "No". And then maybe you took your Dog into your backyard and waited there for him to eliminate. And once he had done that, you lovingly petted him.

However, the whole incident has a completely negative impact on your dog. Instead of taking your big "No" as a scolding, your Dog is probably thinking that "WOW! EVERY TIME I poop on the carpet, I get attention from mommy or daddy! This is fun!" This way just to get your attention all over again, he again poops on the carpet.

Moreover, when he pooped in the backyard, you petted him. So, your dog thought that he could eliminate in the backyard as well. Your dog feels, anywhere he poops, either you will give him your attention or you will pat him. As this continues your dog remains prone to accidents.

But this Free Report brings you the good news.

1. This problem is easy to fix
2. You're not alone. Most other Dog owners make the same mistake :-)

Get all the vital information at <http://xxxxx.petrng.hop.clickbank.net/>.

Basic Houstraining Methods

All dogs need to be houstrained – and, basically, all dogs can be houstrained. If you get a very young puppy, you may have to wait a few weeks before his body allows complete houstraining. If you get a previously abused or neglected dog, it may take a while for him to fully understand what is expected of him.

If this is your first dog (or puppy), you – and your dog - have lots to learn, but don't be alarmed. Neither of you can learn it all at once. Take it a step at a time and enjoy each other throughout the process.

Make it a fun experience for your pet. Your dog should enjoy these sessions instead of dreading them.

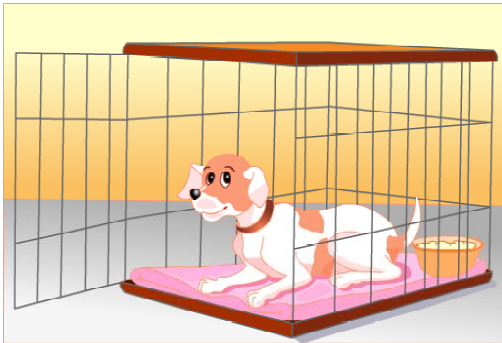

To start with, there are three primary methods of houstraining:

- The Crate Method – restricting your dog within the crate to prevent accidents.
- The Paper Method – practicing elimination on newspapers, paper towels, etc.
- The Litter Box Method – practicing elimination indoors and particularly in the litter box.

Crate Training

Crate training is simply putting your dog into a crate at times when you cannot keep a watch over him every second during houstraining.

Crate training is important for dogs who are left alone for long periods of time or who are boarded at a place where they will be crated. It is also useful for restricting your new dog from access to various areas of the house.

This method will help in keeping him from soiling different parts of the house while he is being houstrained. Crates are a big help while traveling as well.

There are several types of crates – wire, plastic, nylon fabric, and combination. Some are collapsible and some simply come apart in two pieces.

Read the whole E-Book at <http://xxxxx.petrng.hop.clickbank.net/> to learn about the 5 most important facts on Crate Training that every dog owner should know about.

Paper Training

This method can be used as a temporary method if the weather is bad. Medium or large dogs have too much urine and too much odor to their urine to be able to soak it up by papers. It would also make the papers too heavy and wet to fold up and put into the trash.

<http://xxxxx.pettrng.hop.clickbank.net/>

Select a convenient place like basement, bathroom or utility room in your home as the dog's papering area. Do not select an area with a hardwood floor. Also make sure the potty place is well away from his eating and sleep areas.

To know in step-by-step details the advantages and disadvantages of paper-training visit: <http://xxxxx.pettrng.hop.clickbank.net/>.

Litter Box Training

Only very small (toy) breed dogs or puppies younger than six months should be litter box trained. Medium or large dogs have large amounts of urine and feces, both of which are very smelly. The amount of litter needed to soak it all up would be very heavy to put into the trash. Litter box is ideal for elderly owners, home alone dogs and toy breeds. However, it sometimes can be a hassle and it costs money.

Did you know that there are as many as 10 different housetraining methods? You can choose any one of them according to your own convenience and suitability. Click Here to know in details about each one them and their pros and cons.

Puppy & Adult Dog Schedules

Schedule for Puppies

When your dog is a little puppy, establish a regular schedule of elimination trips and feedings. This will help you to control the times your dog has to go out to eliminate and prevent accidents in the house.

Schedule for Adult Dogs

You can use a modified puppy schedule to train a non-housetrained dog or one that's having housetraining problems. Start from the beginning just like a puppy, use a crate and put them on a schedule.

Get thorough step-by-step Potty Training Schedule Charts for Puppies & Adult Dogs at: <http://xxxxx.pettrng.hop.clickbank.net/>.

Behavioral Problems

Successful housetraining can be hindered by a few behavioral problems from your pet dog. Here are some of those cases stated below:

Submissive Urination

A dog that submissively urinates is urinating when he feels threatened. He may pee when he is being scolded, beaten, abused or seeing a stranger. Although that person may not actually be threatening the dog, but the dog perceives a threat. Try to understand exactly what makes your dog feel threatened. Be aware of when this happens and what occurs that leads to submissive urination.

<http://xxxxx.pettrng.hop.clickbank.net/>

Excitement Urination

If your dog eliminates when he gets attention, seeing his owner or guests he likes it could be excitement urination. Excitement urination occurs most often during greetings or playtime. The thing that distinguishes it from submissive urination is that it is not accompanied by submissive posturing.

Marking

“Marking” is urinating in small amounts on the same surfaces or it may be done on multiple surfaces. Usually the dog doing the “marking” will sniff the surface in a set pattern before “marking” it.

Separation Anxiety

Separation anxiety occurs mostly to home alone dogs. Your dog may exhibit separation anxiety by urinating, defecating, digging, scratching, or chewing while you are gone. If your dog is perfectly housetrained and behaves appropriately at all times except when you leave him – even if you are only gone less than an hour – he is suffering from separation anxiety. It also occurs to over-possessive dogs.

Read more about all these common Housebreaking problems at <http://xxxxx.pettrng.hop.clickbank.net/>.

Health Related Problems

If your dog gives you really a hard time housetraining, you should take your dog to a vet. The veterinarian may need to run a number of tests such as a urinalysis, blood tests, x-rays, and an ultrasound to find out whether your dog is suffering from any of the following health issues or not.

Congenital Problems

Congenital means that the problem occurred in the formation of the puppy in its mother's womb. Therefore, the problem is present at birth. Many congenital problems can be dealt with successfully with a surgical procedure.

Diseases & Medical Problems

There are other medical problems that may occur in your dog. In such cases your dog should be taken to a vet without much delay. The medical issues can be such as,

<http://xxxxx.pettrng.hop.clickbank.net/>

Bladder Stones, Cushing's Syndrome, Diabetes, etc. Learn more about the different medical problems at: <http://xxxxx.pettrng.hop.clickbank.net/>.

Medication Related Problems

There are some medications that cause problems for dogs like lack of control over their bladder or sphincter. An example of such a medication is prednisone - a steroid that relaxes control of the smooth muscle of their bladder and/or bowels.

Old-Age Problems

With age your dog can be affected by a number of health problems. It is important that you note any of the following symptoms like dribbling urine, kidney failure or unable to urinate and bring them to the attention of your veterinarian.

Dog health problems deserve the same attention that we give to our own health issues. Dogs face the same illnesses as we do. Therefore, you should be aware of all the diseases that may affect your pet, their symptoms and syndrome. Find out more in details about all the health issues mentioned above and their cures at: <http://xxxxx.pettrng.hop.clickbank.net/>.

Dog Group Specific Issues

Scent Hounds

Scent Hounds will chase after anything whose scent they pick up and they will totally forget they were supposed to potty. Many Scent Hounds have been "let out" to go potty and never been seen again! Therefore, a secure bottom fence is a must with these dogs, since they are diggers as well.

Some of the Scent hounds are: American Bloodhound, Basset Hound, Beagle, Bloodhound, Dachshund, Ibizan Hound, Otterhound, Pharaoh Hound, and Rhodesian Ridgeback.

Sight Hounds

A fenced area is absolutely necessary with Sight Hounds. Keep your puppy on a leash every time you go outside and hold on tightly to the leash! These dogs will chase anything that moves, including cars. Keep that in mind when you take him outside to his potty place. If he sees a rabbit and is not on a leash, he will be gone before you can even start to chase him down.

Some of the Sight Hounds include: Afghan Hound, Basenji, Borzoi, Italian Greyhound, Irish Wolfhound, Norwegian Elkhound, Saluki, the Whippet, etc.

Pointers & Setters

Many pointers have similar characteristics to the sight hounds and to the scent hounds so make sure you understand the issues written under the respective topics.

Terriers

Territorial by nature, they are prone to 'marking'. They are also diggers so a secure bottom fence is a must. Otherwise, you will lose your dog when you let him out to go potty.

Firmness and consistency are important in housetraining if you own a Terrier as they quickly learn exactly where and under what circumstances they can get away with not obeying you.

Retrievers

Retrievers are pretty easy to housetrain. They want to please their people and live in a clean environment. Retrievers often resist crate training and can even injure themselves in trying to get out and be with their people.

Late Maturers

Late Maturers take a longer time to mature mentally and physically. So it takes a long time for them to understand the difference between where they should potty and where not. They are also late at developing a control over their bladder.

Some of the Late maturers include: Irish Wolfhounds, all Mastiffs, Great Danes, Chinese Shar-Peis.

Toy Breeds

Toy Breeds can have special problems in housetraining. Think of your Toy Breed as a dog and not as a baby or as part human. Have the same expectations of your dog as you would if it were a Golden Retriever or Great Dane.

While Housetraining a Toy Dog make sure:

- The grass is kept very short if you take him outdoors to eliminate.
- He feels safe when he is eliminating outside with no large dog around.
- To practice indoor elimination if the weather is cold outside.
- You use a schedule and stick to it.
- To attach a leash when he is out of his crate or keep a watch over him

Some of the Toy Dogs are: Chihuahua, Yorkshire Terrier, Pug, Maltese, Miniature Pinscher, Papillon, Pekingese, Pomeranian etc.

<http://xxxxx.pettmg.hop.clickbank.net/>

What breed do you own? Click Here to find out the housetraining tips and strategies you will need to implement on your dog breed.

Whatever breed you have you will need to keep a constant eye on your dog, until your pet is fully housebroken. Watch your dog carefully. Try to comprehend his body language. For this you need to spend more time with your pet. Observe his movements closely. Watch what he does just prior to peeing or pooping.

Always use positive reinforcements. If you punish him, you will find him sneaking off to another room to potty or slinking around the house acting guilty. Click Here to learn more on Positive Reinforcements. Remember, to be consistent with praising your dog when he eliminates correctly.

I am sure no one fancies seeing himself picking up the poop after his dog, soaking up stains or removing odors...that too everyday. No one sees himself getting exhausted trying to housebreak his erratic dog and surely no one could ever imagine a scenario where he has to give away his dog as he's unable to fix potty training problems...

And needless to say, if you, by chance, use the wrong methods or techniques, you may have to live with the mess and the stress of a non-housetrained dog for years...

In a moment I will take you to a website: <http://xxxxx.pettmg.hop.clickbank.net/>, where you can learn how to quickly and easily potty train your dog – and put a rest to all your housebreaking nightmares.

What You Need To Do To Fully Potty Train Your Dog!

Frankly, in order to make potty training a hassle-free exercise for you and your dog, you need to get hold of the right strategies and methods. You require advanced potty training tips that will be concrete and powerful and will serve as a perfect troubleshooter for all kinds of housetraining problems - from serious to minor and from common to complex.

Presenting "Housetraining Your Dog - A Definitive Guide" – your one-stop resource to end all your potty training troubles, aggravations and frustrations. With the proven potty training tips provided in this guide, you will be able to get rid of the biggest headaches of dog ownership – permanently!

And you can look forward to enjoying the treasures of owning a dog i.e. Unconditional Love, Loyalty and Companionship!!

The topics mentioned above are all chosen excerpts from the e-Book, giving you a sneak peek at what exactly we have in store for you. But it does not end here. You will get a package full of vital information on different aspects of dog housetraining and on connected issues.

With this definitive guide in your hand, you will just need to invest a little amount of time and energy for a few short weeks and you will be able to effectively potty train your adult dog or puppy. Simply follow the tested methods, strategies and tips discussed in this e-Book and be all smiles with your dog!

Houstraining Your Dog – A Definitive Guide

The trick to stop housebreaking accidents is to prevent your Dog from having accidents in the first place. And to achieve that, there are certain things your should NEVER do.

It's all laid out for you in easy, step-by-step housebreaking tips in my E-book:

"Houstraining Your Dog - A Definitive Guide"

Not only do my housebreaking methods work great for Dogs, they make sure that your experience remains positive and problem-free.

Click Here To Get The Full Scoop Here

Here's just a taste of what's revealed in this amazing Houstraining system:

- ✓ 7 amazing pointers to successful houstraining
- ✓ 2 great methods that will tell you that your dog wants to go potty & 2 most effective methods you can use to stop your Dog from eliminating in the wrong place... guaranteed.
- ✓ The guaranteed secret that the pro trainers use to combat submissive urination
- ✓ 5 easy ways to prevent 'repeat houstraining accidents'
- ✓ 4 types of health-related problems that hampers the process of houstraining
- ✓ Customize your Houstraining sessions based on the behavioral instincts or health issues faced by Dogs in general.

And that's not nearly all.

Click Here To Learn More

What more does it offer?

- A treasure-trove full of step-by-step instructions and detailed guidelines on dog houstraining.
- Insight into what you should and should not be doing after you bring your new dog home Endless facts on indoor and outdoor houstraining.
- The numerous dos and don'ts you MUST keep in mind while your are houstraining your dog - Highlighted details on the various pros and cons of crate training, paper training, outdoor training, litter box training and diaper training.
- Advices on what positive reinforcements work the best for your dog.

<http://xxxxx.pettmg.hop.clickbank.net/>

- Details of housetraining issues faced by almost all breeds of dogs - individual information on as many as 60 dog breeds!

Start Potty Training Your Dog Today!

Why go through hours and hours of tiresome job of looking for something that has already been collated and compiled into one single e-Book? Why not take full advantage of our 178 hours of research and fact-finding - that we have spent ONLY for our Breed specific section alone.

Wish you all the best in your effort to be a BETTER PARENT to your and make it fully housebroken.

With Regards,

Nancy Richards

President
Dog Training Institute

P.S. With "Housetraining Your Dog - A Definitive Guide", you don't need to hunt for information anymore. It reveals the ultimate secrets of potty training dogs that can turn even the most erratic ones into social, fully housebroken pets.

You are getting power-packed information on anything and everything on dog housetraining you can think of, along with the fabulous bonus offer. Grab the chance while it lasts.

And with my 100% money back guarantee you simply have nothing to lose.

Buy The Housetraining Guide, Now!